A comic book cover for 'Nights into Dreams'. The central figure is a purple bat-like character with large wings, a long pointed ear, and a determined expression. He is wearing a purple and yellow suit with a red and yellow emblem on the chest. He is flying over a city at night, with a yellow and white starry trail behind him. The background shows a cityscape with buildings and a bright sun or moon in the sky. The title 'Nights into Dreams' is in a stylized blue font with a red outline, set against a red rectangular background. Two speech bubbles are present, and a red box at the bottom contains promotional text.
